GolfVision opens its doors

Ireland's first indoor golf centre opened its doors in Airside Swords Co. Dublin. This 7000sq foot facility allows golfers of all standards to work on their game or play some of the world's greatest courses without leaving Ireland. 3 hi-tech simulators use the latest in Doppler radar to track direct spin on every shot taken. Golfers can use the driving range mode to learn about every aspect of their swing including launch angle, club head speed, angle of attack and smash factor. This is data only before available to tour professionals. GolfVision will allow its customers to play golf all year around no matter what the weather plus it has the added advantage of having over 40 courses to play. With a Pro shop, restaurant, meeting facilities, putting green leagues and tournaments it gives the avid golfer everything he needs under one roof.
